Brigadier Bedding was educated at Kimbolton School, Cambridgeshire. He joined the Corps of Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers in 1989 and is a Chartered Engineer. He has served in Germany, Cyprus and the UK, and on operations in Northern Ireland, the Balkans, Iraq and Kuwait. Regimental duty included postings with REME workshops attached to the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers, and as a Brigade Equipment Support officer. In the UK Ministry of Defence, staff roles included Equipment Capability and Information Superiority. In the UK's Defence Equipment & Support organisation, he focused on strategic improvement and then on Inventory Management Transformation. In 2016, he deployed on Operation INHERENT RESOLVE as Deputy Head Logistics Operations & Plans. He attended the UK Joint Staff Course in 2001; he has an MSc in Defence Logistics Management and an MA in Defence Studies. He has represented GB, England and British Army in target rifle shooting; he now plays gentlemen's hockey, as well as horse-riding and sub-aqua diving. He is married to Coralie with two daughters Louise and Rachel.
