Seth G. Jones holds the Harold Brown Chair and is director of the Transnational Threats Project at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) in Washington. He teaches at Johns Hopkins University and the Center for Homeland Defense and Security at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School. Prior to CSIS, Dr. Jones was the director of the International Security and Defense Policy Center at the RAND Corporation. He also served as representative for the commander, U.S. Special Operations Command, to the assistant secretary of defense for special operations. Before that, he was a plans officer and adviser to the commanding general, U.S. Special Operations Forces, in Afghanistan. In 2014, Dr. Jones served on a congressionally mandated panel that reviewed the FBI's implementation of counterterrorism recommendations contained in the 9/11 Commission Report. He is the author of "A Covert Action" (W.W. Norton, 2018), "Waging Insurgent Warfare" (Oxford University Press, 2016), "Hunting in the Shadows: The Pursuit of al Qa'ida after 9/11" (W.W. Norton, 2012), and "In the Graveyard of Empires: America's War in Afghanistan" (W.W. Norton, 2009). Dr. Jones received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.
