

Ilan Freedman
Vice President Kineti

Panel B7

Airborne Security in the Mediterranean Area – Israeli technical solutions

Wednesday, 27th November 2019, 11:45 – 13:15 h

Ilan Freedman is an expert in counter-surveillance and counter-drone technologies and operations. He serves as a marketing and business development leader at Kineti and at the TNG group of companies, where he leverages expertise in cyber security, wireless communications and big-data to help develop ground breaking solutions for complex security challenges. Prior to this role he held a number of leadership roles in startups and established enterprise software companies. Mr. Freedman earned his undergraduate degree in computer sciences, and an international executive MBA degree from the esteemed Kellogg-Recanati program.